The Wilmington Post

VOLUME XVI. WILMINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA, SUNDAY, APRIL 1, 1883. Single Copies 5 Cents NUMBER 13.

WILMINGTON POST

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as Second Class Matter.

Persons desiring to go west should correspond with Col. Geo. N. Lamphere at Morehead, Minnesota, before making up their minds where they will locate.

Ex-Senator Kellogg has been accused by a person already under indictment, the public will distinguish between such an accusation and a conviction.—National Republican.

And now the whole star route gang may turn state informers, and all accuse Senator Killogg, and then the people will acquit him, from the fact that they know him to be an honest man.

Judge Conger, of Montana, who has been suspended by President Arthur for drunkenness, is a brother of Senator Conger, of Michigan. The bottle appears to have been playing the wild with Michigan politicians for years past. Is it the salt water they drink that makes them such a thirsty set?—News & Observer.

We are surprised at Captain Ashe's publishing the above without stating the fact, which he must know, that Senator Conger never drinks at all. He is one of the purest and best men in the U. S. Senate. Capt. Ashe is usually so fair that we hope he will yet do Senator Conger what is simple justice.

President Arthur will visit the south in a few days. Will go as far as Florida, perhaps, then to Atlanta, then through Tennessee to Washington.—Can't he be induced to stop a day in Wilmington. What say our Mayor to telegraphing him a formal invitation to do so. Wilmington has not been visited by a President of the nation for a hundred years. Now one is going to pass through, we hope he will stop over for at least one day.

We understand that Mr. Solicitor Moore is trying to scrape up a lot of technical violations of election laws in November last against Rdpublicans.—We give him and his party notice that Republicans will bring up two Democrats before the U. S. Court for every Republicanwho is brought up by Mr. Moore. It is done just to make cost, and it will be made very interesting to them before they are throughwith it. Democrats have not been arrested before because the conservative members of the Republiparty advised against it, but now Republicans can go ahead and bring in the names of Illegal Democratic voters, and other violators, so the violators can be bound over to the circuit court at Raleigh, so that Judge Bond can interview them.

The last of the carpet-baggers, William Pitt Kellogg, went the way of all the rest of the nice set,—Star.

In the first place Hon. William Pitt Kellogg is not the kind of man our neighbor, the Star believes him to be He is a gentleman—never was and never will be bribed or guilty of any species of rascality. And in the second place the Star's attack on the northern men who settled here is an outrage. If the Star had said there were very many dishonest northern men, commonly called carpet-baggers, who settled hereafter the war, who had made dishonest combinations with dishonorable natives (both Democrats and Republicans) it would have told the truth.—But the Star makes no exceptions, and slanders all our northern friends; while it knows as well as we do that right here in our very midst, some of our most useful and honorable citizens came here just after the war, and have been commonly called carpet-baggers. Hon. George Z. French, and his brothers, are doing more for the benefit of the state than any twenty natives whom we now know. Colonel E. R. Brink, our popular posmaster, is respected by all. Captain E. J. Penny-packer, President of the Compress Company, who has done so much in this line to build up Wilmington. And we could name hundreds of others who are equally as respectable as the above. The Star knows this, and its columns are constantly used to misrepresent them. How can we ever expect to build up a state and make it what it should be, the most prosperous in the south, as long as this is continued?

A War Between Gov. Buttler of Mass., and his Council.

The governor has been turning out faithful officials for the purpose of paying political debts. But at last he nominated Noah A. Plympton, for insurance commissioner, he is the chairman of the Democratic committee, which was his only qualification, the council refused to confirm him, so now the lines are drawn, and the war begins in good earnest, and if we are not mistaken the Massachusettes boys will make it lively before it is done with.

Capt. Eads, the engineer who give New Orleans 26 feet of water, has resigned his position as a member of the Mississippi commission. We hope the President will refuse to accept it, the county has a right to the services of so eminent a man.

PERSONAL.

Hon. Thomas H. Herndon, member elect to the 48th congress from the first district of Alabama, died on Wednesday last.

Mr. David Kellett is one of the very best fellows inthe Treasury Department, and an officer that North Carolinians may well feel proud of. He is very popular in Washington as well as at home.

STATE NEWS.

Bishop Lyman has planted black walnut extensively on his plantation near Ashville, and expects a handsome profit.

Dr. Leach of Johnson county, who was a member of the confederate congress and was an active member of the peace war, died a few days ago.

E. B. Drake is the oldest editor in the state and, we expect, the south. He is 73 years of age—has been an editor, we learn, some 40 years.

The legislature was exceedingly generous, it made a present to the Virginia Midland of about $2,000,000, or released them from a soleun contract, which was equal to a present of the above amount.

The Atlantic and North Carolina railroad has gone into the hands of a receiver. Mr. John Gatlin, of Raleigh having been appointed by Judge Phillips. Mr. Best's friends claim that he has been badly treated by the state administration, which we expect is the truth.

A tremendous snow storm took place in the northern and western parts of this state on Monday last. At some places the snow was three feet deep; at Henderson on the line of the Gaston railroad many houses were crushed in and it is expected that many lives have been lost. No such snow storm was ever seen in the state before and we hope never will be again.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The new postal law allowing two cent postage, will go into effect October 1st, 1883.

John Brown, Queen Victoria's right hand man and servant, for the past 40 years, died on Wednesday last.

Mr. Stephen W. Dorsey, has finally taken the stand in his own behalf as a witness in the star route trial, now going on in Washington.

Emperor William, of Germany, has been quite "ailing" the past week, but we are glad to inform our German friends that the telegraph reports him better.

Our valuable cotemporary, the Richmond Whig, is exceedingly rejoiced over the disgrace of the Baltimore American. The Whig has our congratulations.

W. H. Vanderbilt, the great Prince of Gold of the United States, gave a ball at his mansion in New York on Tuesday night last, which is said to have cost $130,000. This amount is rung from the poor toiling working men.

Ex President Pofirio Diaz, of Mexico, his wife two Secretaries and several friends arrived in Washington last week. They have traveled over the north and west taking in the sights; and after spending a short time longer in this country they will return to Mexico.

New York city always has a war of some kind, it would be impossible for the dear people of that village to be happy without excitement. They have a war now with the milk men—they want better and more milk; we hope they will get it. By all means give the inhabitants of New York more milk and stop the beer wagons.

Frank Byrne, and wife, whom the Irish informer, Carey, charges with being connected with the Irish invincibles, have arrived in New York on the steamer Amerigne. Byrne was arrested in Paris and held for ten days, but proved that he was in France when Carey said he was in Ireland, therefore released. Mrs. Byrne was arrested and taken to Dublin, but Carey failed to identify her. She also was released, and joined her husband and come to America, where they can enjoy the glorious freedom of our country.

NASHVILLE, March 23—The Senate to day adopted a resolution authorizing a settlement with M. T. Polk, the defaulting state treasurer. The resolution—the vote on which was 25 to 5—allows Polk to pay $100,000 in the genuine bonds of the bank of Tennessee within ten days, and $75,000 of the internal improvement bonds with $38,750 accumulated interest thereon, which bonds with interest shall be received as $75,000, and $75,000 of the genuine notes issued by the bank of Tennessee, to be paid within 90 days from this date, which shall be credited upon the deficit of Polk for the sum of $250,000, which, when paid, shall relieve the sureties of Polk and the assets attached in the hands of J. W. Childress, the balance to be paid in current money or the genuine issue of the bank of Tennessee, providing that nothing in this act shall prevent the prosecution of Polk.

Columbus Superior court has been in session the past week, the only important case was the two white men for killing a negro. Acquital was the verdict of course.

Mr. John D. Bellamy has been elected city attorney by the board of aldermen. We believe the selection is a very good one, he is a young lawyer of energy and will perform the duties faithfully.

The U. S. Commissioner, E. H. King, is taking the testimony in the Carolina Central railroad case. Messrs. Russell and McRae, for the plantiff, Mathews, and Davis and Stedman, for the defendants the road.

Col. L. C. Jones.

The editor having been out of the city for considerable portion of the time for the past two months, this paper failed to notice the happy selection, on the part of the owners, of Col L. C. Jones of Fayettevilie, as the Superintendent of the Carolina Central railroad. Col. Jones is one of the most popular men in the state and a railroad man of long experience, one who will perform his duty by his employers, but at the same time, will do it in such a manner as to make the management popular with the patrons of the road. He will make a very excellent assistant to Maj. Winder, his immediate chief. Two such men as Winder and Jones will make any road popular: but add to them the assistance of the prince of good fellows, Col. Frank W. Clark, the general passenger agent of the lines under the managemeat of Maj. Winder, and you have a trio of the best and most popular railroad men in the south. We congratulate the company and the patrons, on the success of securing such able, polite and good men to manage the Carolina Central, the Raleigh and Augusta and the Raleigh and Gaston railroads.

City Delivery.

The post office department will establish a city delivery for the convenience of our people very soon, and we are happy to inform our business men that this has been accomplished through the efforts of Senator Ransom, who always has an eye to aid our people in every way possible.

This is the proper season for our mayor to get the city thoroughly cleaned up, as the weather will soon be warm and then it will not do to overhaul the banks of filth. The Mayor will have his hands full for the next few months, getting things in proper condition.

Seaside Hotel.

In our last we stated that Mr. B. L. Perry, of the Purcell House in this city, had leased the Seaside Hotel at Wrightsville Sound, right on the seashore coast. He informs us that he is going to entirely renovate, refit, add to and make a first-class summer house out of it. It is located on one of the most pleasants sites on the coast, being on a point and having a large oak grove some thirty acres for a park. He will have boats running to the beach with the very best boatmen in charge, ten pin alleys, billiard rooms, bathing houses, and other places of amusement and comfort. He intends to have fishermen in his employ, so he can at all times give his guests fresh fish, oysters, crabs, clams, turtles, terapins, &c. The hotel is just eight miles from the Purcell House in this city, a very substantial and pleasant shell road, which makes the drive just about an hour long. It will be, take it all in all, one of the very best and most convenient summer places in the south.

Probably the Largest Farmer in the World.

Hiram Sibley, of Rochester N. Y., is said to be the largest farmer in the world. He owns more than a hundred improved farms. One in Illinois formerly known as the "Sullivant Farm," contains 40,000 acres; another in Cayuga county, N. Y., 8,500 acres. "Farmer Sibley" is not, however, a typical son of the soil, having long been identified with great commercial enterprises and working harder with his head than with his hands. He organized and was for over fifteen years president of the Western Union Telegraph company, and also had extensive railroad interests, especially in the south. He is now the head of one of the largest seed houses in the world. The name of Hiram Sibley & Co. is already a household word in thousands of homes, to which their farm, garden and flower seeds are sent each year. They not only furnish seeds, but also valuable information as to best methods of growing them. They publish the Farmers' Almanac, the southern edition of which contains prize essays on the culture of southern crops, also the Farm Seeds Manual, which gives a rare fund of practical information upon all farm crops. For these books the nominal price of ten cents each is charged, but they send their Spring, Fall and Implement Catalogues free to all applicants. They are undoubtedly a good house to deal with.

THE WILMINGTON POST.

W. P. CANADAY, Proprietor.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, APRIL 1, 1883.

Hon. E. W. M. Mackey, of South Carolina, is in Washington attending to important business matters for his constituents.

SENATOR VANCE.

North Carolinas' junior Senator is still in the city of Washington, looking in better health than we have ever seen him. There is something in the Washington climate which seems to agree with "Our Zeb," and he is as full of jokes as ever. That, with his natural good nature, makes him exceedingly popular with the boys.

THE JOURNAL-OBSERVER.

The Charlotte Journal was started some six months ago, and we are delighted at its prosperity. Col. Waddell has succeeded exceedingly well, and has now purchased the Charlotte Observer and has consolidated it with the Journal under the name of the Journal-Observer. We wish the enterprise a continued success.

HON. TIMOTHY O. HOWE.

Hon. Timothy O. Howe, late Postmaster General, died at Kenosha, Wis., at 2 o'clock p. m. on Sunday last, the 25th of March, of pneumonia, in the 67th year of his age.

The above painful news was sent over the county on Monday last, which caused sadness to millions of people. All who knew Mr. Howe loved him for his integrity and loveable disposition. Hon. T. O. Howe was a native of Maine, where he lived untill he was about 28 years of age; he served one term in the Maine legislature with considerable ability, having made law his profession he moved to Wisconsin where he has since lived. He was made judge of the Circuit and then the Supreme Court, where he served for eight years. In 1856 he resigned and in 1857 he was a candidate for the U. S. Senate, but failed; again in 1859 he was in the field and was elected almost unanimously; he was re-elected twice thereafter, serving in all 18 years as a senator; leaving the senate the 4th of March, 1879. In 1881 he was appointed by President Garfield as one of the monitary commissioners to Paris. In 1882 President Arthur appointed him Postmaster General, which position he held with great satisfaction to the whole country. No man has ever filled the position with more ability, and his loss will be mourned alike by rich and poor, by the north and the south, and by the whole entire country. We believe one of the best and greatest men of this country has passed away.

Who will Succeed the late Post-

This is a fact not to be considered out of place to consider the above matter in the same paper that we announce the death of the late Postmaster General Howe. The President has to make a selection, but the President will naturally want to take a man in whom the people of the country have full confidence. A man of business integrity, quick and active, polite and decisive, and who will carry in the office sufficient ability and experience to make a successful Postmaster General. Who is the man that can give satisfaction to the President and the country, is the important question to be considered. We believe the President never had a better opportunity to select such a man, and at the same time carry out the country's notion on the civil service policy. Hon. Frank Hatton has served as First Assistant Postmaster General for more than fifteen months, with great ability and entire satisfaction to the business interests. And we know we speak the sentiments of the south, particularly, and coutry generally, when we say his promotion will place the right man in the right place.

We do not believe the President will hesitate for a moment to perform so graceful an act. He cannot carry out the civil service programme in a more substantial manner. We look upon Gen. Frank Hatton as one of the most thorough postoffice officials in the country and at the same time a Republican to the backbone, but one who believes "he who serves his country best serves his party best," and thinks this can be done by appointing Republicans, where all things are equal, to fill the places under him. We hope and believe that we shall have the satisfaction of announcing in our next the appointment of Frank Hatton as Postmaster General of the United States.

FIRST ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL.

If the President should appoint Hon. Frank Hatton Postmaster General, as all of our people wish him to do, could he do a more graceful act by southern Republicans than to appoint a southern man to the position of Frst Assistant Postmaster General? The appointment of a southern Republican would be exceedingly encouraging to the men in the south who have been loyally standing by the honor of the noble old party for the last twenty years, without the slightest recognition. We believe President Arthur is our friend, and if we are correct we hope he will consider the claims of southern Republicans for some recognition at his hands.

THE NATIONAL COUNCIL AT PHILADELPHIA.

The Executive Committee of the Union League of America met at the Continental Hotel in the city of Philadelphia, on Saturday, the 24th of March, with a very full attendance. All parts of the country were represented, and the business transacted was of very great importance to the good of the Order. A resolution was introduced by Col. Bryant of Georgia (one of the most enthusiastic workers in the league) to the effect that the Council should hold a series of meetings in the southern states, and leading men of the north should be invited to come south and meet the leading southern men in executive council. The resolution was unanimously adopted, after being carefully and thoroughly discussed. The first one of these meetings will be held in Atlanta, the second in Wilmington, and the third either in West Virginia or Tennessee.

After all the other business was finished, Gen. Negly, President of the League, delivered a very appropriate address on the great loss the League had met with in the death of Governor Marshall Jewell, of Connecticut, one of its members, which was ordered spread on the minutes.

We hope the southern people will take more interest in this society, which is intended to cultivate and perpetuate the union of the states. We are all interested in the success of the League, and when the National Council holds its session in this city we hope all our people will turn out to give them a welcome that only Wilmingtonians can give.

SENATOR W. P. KELLOGG.

We know Senator Kellogg of Louisiana, and all of the witnesses, yet, who have been connected with the Star Route scandals could not make us believe that he has been connected with any frauds on the government. He is an honest, able, and energetic Republican—one of the men whom the Democratic party has always been afraid of, and they may continue so, for they will never be able to convict him of any dishonesty on the government or on private individuals. A man who has served as Senator, then Governor, then Senator, and then elected a member of Lower House of Congress, has too much to loose to be connected with such matters as the Star Route frauds, to say nothing of the man's honesty. Kellogg is not a fool, therefore his hands are as clean of any dishonest matters as the purest and most honest in the Senate. We take pleasure in stating that Senator Kellogg is a gentleman.

As we predicted for Hon. R. Beverly Frayser, when elected to the legislature, so has he done. Seeing intuitively that nothing could be gained by a Democrat, they being, numerically, the "dominant party," by large odds, he adopted a line of policy, without the least sacrifice of principle, which secured for him the confidence and respect, of nearly every Democrat in the house; and which enabled him to defeat the only two bills, touching the interest of his people, which went up from the county of Pender, viz: The bill providing for an additional tax for the purpose of erecting a court house and jail and the one to further the Angola Bay Enterprise. After he heard that the former had originated in the senate under the influence of the able and efficient senator from Sampson, he did as any other faithful and true man would do,—wrote to the largest and most influential tax payers of the county, though nearly all of them Democrats) for information on the subject. And when he found that at least three fourths of that class of men were opposed to it, he threw himself into the beach, and antagonized the bill in a manner and style that carried conviction to the minds and hearts of all who heard him, that in matters of that kind he was emphatically a representive man. For he rose above party and all partisan considerations, avowing that if he felt and believed that his position there as a Republican would defeat the good and deserving men, whose interest he then, defended, he would deliberately resign his seat and let some man be sent there who could get the confidence and respect of the controlling party and thereby protect the interest of the farmer, against the efforts of the few, who were anxious and clamoring for the passage of this bill. In doing this, he said he knew that he was acting in opposition to the hopes and wishes of some of the best friends he had ever known in the state. But that there were times and circumstances which demanded a sacrifice, and which must smother and still the voice even of friends and though they were all friends, the majority of interests must not be disregarded, because it would be neither just nor patriotic to do so; and he never would do it, let results be as they might.

While on our way to Philadelphia to attend the National Council, we had the pleasure of meeting one of North Carolina's ablest sons, Gen. Joseph R. Hawley, now the honored and honorable senator from the great state of Connecticut, and we were delighted to see him in good health and spirits concerning the future.

Pay your subscription to the POST.

HON. JOS. R. HAWLEY.

North Carolina has a Republican Representative in the Senate of the United States, though he hails from Connecticut, we have a right to claim, and do claim, a share in him. He is a native of North Carolina, born at Laurel Hill, in Richmond county, his mother was a native of Cumberland county. When young Hawley was 13 years of age his parents moved to Connecticut, where he was educated as a lawyer. When the late civil war broke out between the states Mr. Hawley, then a young man, entered the Union army, where he had an opportunity to show the kind of mettle he possessed, which he did to the entire satisfaction of his friends. He rose rapidly, and when the war ended he was a Major General, and at one time the commanding General of this military department. Soon after the war he was elected Governor of Connecticut, afterwards a member of the lower house of congress, and was re-elected some four times. In 1876 he was president of the centennial commission, and was at the head, and in fact managed the centennial exhibition, and it was through his great ability that it was such a grand success. In 1880 he was elected to the United States senate, and in that body he has already come to the front as one of the leaders. It was through his efforts that the civil service bill passed. He has been at the head of the leading political paper of New England for the past ten years.

He was a brave soldier during the late war; a newspaper man of great ability, and to-day the peer of any man in the Senate. May he continue to rise to the highest position in the gift of the nation, is the prayer of every Republican in the old North State. He is comparatively a young man, notwithstanding the fact that he has been Governor of the state of Connecticut, a member of the House of Representatives of Congress for four terms (we believe), besides his four years' service as a General in the Union army. But few men have rose to such distinction at his age, and every North Carolinian feels a very just interest in his success. It would be a great pleasure to his friends if he would pay a visit to his native state; he would be welcomed with open arms

American Newspapers in 1883.

From the new edition of Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co's American Newspaper Directory, which is now in press, it appears that the newspapers and periodicals of all kinds issued in the United States and Territories now reach the imposing total of 11,196. This is an increase of 585 in twelve months.—Taking the states one by one, the newspaper growth in some is very considerable. The present total in New York state, for instance, is 1,399—a gain of 28 since last year. The increase in Iowa being 943. Nebraska's total grew from 175 to 201, and Illinois from 800 to 904. A year ago Massachusetts had 420 papers, now the number is 438. In Texas the new papers outnumbered the suspensions by 8, and Ohio now has 738 papers instead of 692. The most remarkable change has occurred in the territories, in which the daily papers have grown from 43 to 63, and the weeklies from 169 to 253—Dakota being the chief area of activity. The number of monthlies throughout the country grew from 976 to 1,034, while the dailies leaped from 996 to 1,062. The figures given above are exclusive of Canada, which possesses a total of 696. It is interesting to note that the newly settled regions of the Canadian northwest are productive of newspapers as well as of wheat, for the number of journals issued in Manitoba was nearly doubled the year.

Mr. O. B. Frothingham shows in his article on "Criticism and Christianity," in the April North American Review, an evident return to more confidence in the integrity of Christianity than he used to express when standing forth as a radical religious teacher in this city. He is far more conservative than he used to be. He frankly says: "In an age of multifarious activities like ours, of such various temperaments and aptitudes, a great religion must be hospitable and persuasive, insisting only on such primal truths as constitute it a religion; the existence of a supreme intelligence which communicates itself to men, raising them to superhuman possibilities of experience through aspiration and faith. The glory of such a manifestation can never be described. The reality of such experience is, by all earnest minds, confessed." Neither is he at all daunted by the criticism of Christianity. He says: "Criticism may, in the end, prove a good friend to it by removing the excrescences that cloud its radiance and disfigure its beauty.—The danger, if danger there be, is likely to come from its defenders who are ignorant of the use of their own weapons, and, like the passionate Peter in the Gospel, draw a sword, fetch a mighty blow and succed in cutting off the ear of a servant. The Master has but to appear and His enemies sink to the ground." These are wise and true and strong words from one who has been, perhaps, the most radical of all sensible thinkers in America.—Churchman.

Released.

Trouble with the Red Devils

There is quite a serious war breaking out in the territories. The Indians are killing the defenceless whites—we hope they will be subjugated very soon. If the department will let General Crook have his way about the matter we have no doubt about the result. The following telegrams were received at the Department of the Interior:

SAN CARLOS, A. T. March 25, '83.
Secretary TELLER, Washington:

Excepting those in the vicinity of Camp Apache all our reservation Indians came in this morning, were carefully counted and all found present or accounted for beyond reasonable doubt. I am very confident that the Indians committing depredations are of Juh's band of Renegades from Old Mexico. The Indians here, without, exception, express a desire to fight the renegades if they come, they show no signs of dissatisfaction, but on the contrary are well disposed. WILCOX, Agent.

WHIPPLE BARRACKS, A. T., March 26th, 1883.
Secretary TELLER, Washington:

Your dispatch received. The outrages reported have been committed by a small raiding party of the Chiricahua Apaches coming back from Mexico, where they have been living since they left here one year ago. Up to the present moment seven persons are known to have been killed on our side of the boundary. The troops are in pursuit. So far as the threats made by the people of Tombstone are concerned, I am in full sympathy with them, and should be glad to learn that the last of the Chiracahuas were under the ground. They are an incorrigible lot. Ten years ago, when the other Apache bands were whipped on the other reservation, the Chiracahuas were specially employed by the government for this same subjugation. Since then it is believed that they have killed not less than one thousand persons in this country and in Mexico. They are constantly trying to stir up mischief among the agency Indians, and so long as they can run back and forth across the border, this territory and Mexico must look out for trouble. They are the worst band of Indians in America. The agency Indians are behaving well. Not one has left the San Carlos, and their assistance can be relied upon in case all the Chiricahuas return, as they may do if pressed by Mexican troops or the desire of plunder. GEORGE CROOK, Brig. Gen.

Secretary Teller, in reply to General Crook telegraphed as follows: "Your telegram received, for which please accept my thanks. I agree with you that the renegades must be subjugated or destroyed. The interests of the whites and peaceable indians alike demand this."

These Indians should be taught a lesson that will last them for all time. They cost the government too much to support them to have them killing up the settlers.

How to Settle the Case.

The Herald invites everybody who believes in a protective tariff to vote for the Republican candidate for President next year, and although the Herald's advice in Presidential years is uniformity unfortunate—not even the oldest inhabitant remembering when successful Presidential candidate—it is quite fair to suppose that the Herald's advice for once will be taken—that is unless it should be seized with a desire to support a MCCLELLAN, SEYMOUR, TILDEN, or HANCOCK—a proceeding which certainly would not startle any one, even though at present it exhibits so much apprehension of the political situation that is to be. The tariff question, however, is settled, and, as was observed in these columns on the adjournment of Congress, as time goes on the Democrats will be less and less disposed to reopen it. A few honest, direct persons like our esteemed contemporary the Louisville Courier Journal, that believes more in principle than expediency, will continue to agitate it, but the policy of the party is against reopening a question that was so fatal to it in 1880. Therefore it is more than probable that the party will nominate a man like Mr. RANDALL, who is a protectionist, but would like to be regarded as a free trader where free trade prevails, than an out and out "Tariff for revenue only" sort of person like Mr. Beck, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Randolph Tucker, Mr. Morrison, or Mr. Carlisle. If the Democratic party was honest in its free trade professions, it would nominate one of this group, or one who supports their economic doctrines. But the Herald may safely wager its advertising receipts for an entire year that no honest, outspoken free trader like Morgan, Carlisle, or Morrison will get enough votes in the next national Democratic convention to frighten any of the gentlemen who are quietly hugging the belief that Presidential lightning is to strike in their quarter. If the Democratic party had any policy but to get into office it could not show its sincerity plainer than by putting a square up and down free trader at the head of its ticket. And yet what else has it to fight for? The Republicans have cut the civil service reform question from under its feet; there is nothing to be made in keeping up a fight on the finances, and it dare not agitate the temperance question. It has either to reopen the tariff question or renew the shouts about "Republican machine rule," "Republican prodigacy," "Republican extravagance," &c. The combinations it is disposed to make in other states with the rag-tag and bob-tail political outscourings would make further assumptions of political morality rather ludicrous—but of course that patriotic party would not mind that if it could get into office. Therefore it will have to make some other claim for preferment than ability to abuse the Republicans. We cordially commend the proposition to draw a direct line, and have this matter settled at once—have the tariff question as arranged by the Republicans made the basis of next year's campaign. If the Herald and the World will agree to this proposition, perhaps they will succeed in reviving the drooping energies of some of their able colaborers who are every day evincing more and more aversion to further words, they are fighting as shy of it as such bold and patriotic battlers for principle well can. It is sad to note this, but even the Herald whose heart yearns for free trade as the thirsty heart for the spring, cannot close its eyes to the facts that the Democrats are fighting shy and making most desperate efforts to hedge.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Army of the Potomac—The Determination to Make its Next Reunion a Great Success, if Possible.

The society of the Army of the Potomac will on the sixteenth and seventeenth of May hold its fourteenth anual reunion in this city. The meetings of this society have never before held here, and the effort is to make this the grandest affair of all, since this is the great center and was the point from which this division of the army operated. The men who make up this society represent the soldiers who were in at the beginning and at the close of the war, and many of them are desirous of making Washington the permanent meeting place of the society. They say that it was so prominent a point in the field of struggles and successes that it is the proper place to gather for the annual reunions. Of course it is important that this first meeting in Washington should be made a success.

The following from the constitution and by-laws shows the object of the society and qualifications for membership:

This association shall be known by the name and title of "The Society of the Army of the Potomac," and shall include every officer and enlisted man who has at any time served with honor in that army, and has been honorably discharged therefrom, or remains in service in the regular army, who shall have given his assent to the constitution and by-laws of the society, and paid his initiation fee.

The object of this society shall be to cherish the memories and associations of the Army of the Potomac; to strengthen the ties of fraternal fellowship and sympathy formed from companionship in that army; to perpetuate the name and fame of those who have fallen either on the field of battle or in the line of duty with that army; to collect and preserve the record of its great achievements, its numerous and well contested battles, its campaigns, marches, and skirmishes.

Every officer and enlisted man desiring to become a member of this society shall, upon giving his assent to the constitution, pay to the treasurer the sum of $1 as an initiation fee, and each year thereafter the sum of $2 as annual dues, and shall thereupon be entitled to a copy of the proceedings of the society, when published, free of charge.

Ex-soldiers of this army in the Treasury department and others can obtain applications for membership and all desired information of Maj. Mills, office of internal revenue.—National Republican.

Eve's Daughters,

Or "Common Sense for Maid, Wife and Mother," by Marion Harland, the popular author of "Common Sense in the Household," is the title of a new book from the press of Anderson & Allen, New York city. It is a book for women To them it abounds in lessons of value. It should be included in the reading of every family in the land. We invite your attention to their advertisement in another column.

JUDGE ALBION W. TURGEE.

Judge Tourgee, the justly celebrated author and editor of the popular magazine "Our Continent," says: "Marion Harland's new book, 'Eve's Daughters' is, perhaps, the most remarkable work of the kind ever published. The graceful and sympathetic writer, whose hand has already done so much to lighten the labors and brighten the lives of her sisters, in these pages admits every American mother, daughter and wife to a series of confidential talks, every word of which is instinct with candor, good sense, delicacy and sincerity. No man can read it without gathering from its pages a new lesson of tenderness and sympathy for the yoke fellow of his life; no mother without yearning to instil its truths into the tender heart of her daughter, and no daughter without learning to honor with a still tenderer devotion the mother who has died to the world that she might live in it. The author recognizes fully the fact that the the writers of all such works have forgotten heretofore, that every new generation faces new duties, exists under new conditions, and that yesterday's guide book are only half reliable charts of to morrow's journey. She speaks to the girl, the wife, the mother of to-day, and not one of them should fail to read her words. One can readily imagine the father giving the volume to his budding daughter with a kiss, and the daughter thanking him with bright eyes when she has perused its pages. Marion Harland leads every reader to think upon the most important of all earthly subjects, and in fashion that is sure to do them, and those who are to come after them, good. We devoutly wish that every American woman would consult its pages and heed the lessons of this charming and pre-eminently useful book. Its lessons are especially needed that the life of to-day may be made better and the hope of to-morrow made brighter." "Wonderful indeed is the virtue of a true book"—Carlyle.

An estate of some $40,000, spid to be all honest savings, is left by an aged colored woman who has just died at Bridgeport, Conn.

Let Gordon Buy a Seat.

Because Gen. Gordon has moved to Florida, and has his eyes on the United States senate again, complaint is made. In the last few years he has become very wealthy, in the usual Democratic, Tilden way (out of railways), and being a rich man, which is the highest senatorial qualification nowadays, of course he naturally desires to be in the company of the other newly rich, who are rapidly filling up that chamber. His ambition is laudable, and organs that favored the general policy of "smashing the machine" which has driven men like Conkling, Windom and Ferry, out of public life, and substituting in their places wealthy manufacturers, ought to indorse and sustain Gordon in this wish. Where should he be, now that he is rich, but beside Warner, Miller, Sabin, Bowen, and Palmer? It is too bad that Tabor's term was so short. He did much to dignify reforms while he was there, but perhaps by the time Gordon buys a seat Tabor will also have been able to purchase one too, and reform will thus get another boost.—Commercial Advertiser.

General Gordon has published a card denying the above, and we hope the newspapers will give him credit for the same.

The following is what an eavesdropper heard: "Now, Mr. Davis, you must run up to the third story and get my smelling bottle and my fan. David Davis—"Oh, that this too solid flesh would melt!"

Over five hundred new buildings were erected in Knoxville Tenn., last year, and it is estimated that one thousand will be completed in 1883.

SUNDAY MORNING, APRIL 1, 1883.

The Development of Art in America.

The rapid strides of progressive civilization of the highest standard in America, is the geatest of all astonishing marvels in the old world. Young in national existence—young even in known geographical existence as a part of the globe—the progress that we have recorded seems to be the scientists and philosophers of the old world like a fanciful midsummer night's dream, or a fable of wildest imagination.

A century since, art, science and development in all directions were of the most primitive order, but now, as it were, all is by magic changed. Our artists take rank with the first and foremost of the old world; our scientists and poets have made known their power, and the mechanical arts have progressed more rapidly than in any other country. And to day this wonderful development is progressing with speed hitherto unknown, producing results of the most momentus importance to all mankind.

It is a fact that the state of civilization in a country may be judged, to a great extent, by the status of its art development. The development of art in the United States has certainly been phenominal, and while a few years since we were far down the scale, to day we stand side by side with nations that were old at the time of the declaration of our independence. But a few years since nearly all pictures of importance were importrd, but now our own artists supply nearly all of the ever increasing demand for great works of high art.

Great art publishing houses have come into existence, capable of supplying any demand that can be made for all descriptions of pictures for galleries and home adornment. It is an interesting and noteworthy fact that the pictures demanded of these art publishing houses, by the masses, are generally superior to those found in the homes of the masses abroad. Through the operation of these art publishing houses, good pictures, that but a few years since cost large sums of money, may now be purchased for the veriest trifle, and if the least judgement is brought to bear in the selection, works of real merit may be had; or if the purchaser has no taste in such matters, all that is necessary is for him to be sure that he purchases the goods of a reliable house.

In this connection it may be proper for us to mention the great art publishing firm of George Stinson & Co., of Portland, Maine, who sell, on an average, of all descriptions, a million pictures a month. It is believed that they pay for postage stamps, not only more than any other firm in this country, but more than any other house in the world at large.

During the year 1879 they paid for postage stamps over eighty-seven thousand dollars. During the year 1880 they paid for postage stamps over one hundred and twenty two thousand dollars, while for the year 1881 their postage bill amounted to over one hundred and forty-four thousand dollars. Thus it will be seen that Messrs. Stinson & Co., pay the two hundred and fiftieth part of all postage collected by the United States Government, and it should be remembered that we live in a country having nearly fifty thousand post offices and over ten thousand newspapers and periodical publications. While such sums are paid for postage, the fact should not be lost sight of that only the smaller packages are sent by mail, all large orders being sent by express and freight.

Their trade extends all over the civilized world, though, of course, America comes in for the lion's share. Messrs. Stinson & Co., are not behind the times in properly understanding the great power of the judicious use of printer's ink, and, in connection, we wish to state that in less than a dozen years past they have expended in newspaper advertising over three hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Enterprise, industry and good judgement will accomplish great things, and in the success of this great art publishing house we have a forcible example of that fact, and now they may, we feel sure, fairly claim to stand at the head of the art publishing business in this country.

We have lately received four elegant steel engravings, published by Messrs. Simson & Co. All are very fine works of high art, and do credit to the publishers. These engravings are very large, thirty by forty inches each; the original paintings, and the steel plates, cost some thirty-three thousand dollars. The engravings are sold at $15.00 per copy. To engrave a single plate of this size and description of workmanship, requires the labor of a most skillful artist from one to two years, and often longer. These elegant engravings are entitled "Sing Birdie, Sing," "Remembrance," "The Bather's Attendant," and "The Garden Gate."

It is believed, and generally conceded, that these engravings make up the finest most elegant set of works of high art ever brought out by American publishers. American homes should be made beautiful by refined works of art, and prices for really good and meritorious pictures are now so low that there can be no excuse for the walls to remain gloomy, unadorned, and cheerless. American homes should be made beautiful, and the tendency of this will be to make more refined and beautiful the lives of all dwellers therein.

WE DESIRE TO INFORM OUR friends and the traveling public generally, that we have opened a barber shop and eating saloon at this place. Shaving done neatly, and meals furnished all hours. Give us a trial, HAGANS & HUSKE
